You Men That Dig in the Garden and Work Around the House After Your Day's Work.

Do you wear your same shoes that you do down at your office? Don't do it. Save your good shoes the hard wear and tear that you give them digging and working around in the garden. Get out a pair of old ones. What does it matter if they are a little torn or have worn-out soles, or probably the heels are a little run down? It costs very little to have them repaired. The writer took this advice and found it very practical. Why not try it?

Idle Wealth

There is probably thousands of dollars' worth of personal property in the city of Omaha alone which is of little value to its present owners.

Nearly all of this would be of use and decided value to somebody else.

Why not exchange to mutual advantage? You must have something you don't need or want. Advertise it in the
